Atlanta, Georgia (CNN) -- In a city rife with transplants, staying put for 10 years means you're practically a native. HLN anchor Robin Meade, who hails from "a cornfield in Ohio," has lived in Atlanta for nearly a decade.

We asked Meade to share her tips for visitors to CNN's hometown:

Where can you get the best view of the city?

Go to the Sun Dial Restaurant Bar and View on top of the Westin hotel tower downtown. The restaurant slowly rotates, so you don't even have to swivel your head to see a different view!
